

SpringBoard: Timeline for Sunsetting Adoption States

College Board has made the decision to wind down the SpringBoard program. We will honor the terms of our contract and state adoption, but some product features, partners and/or services will be impacted.

This decision is not due to a lack of confidence or quality of the SpringBoard program. Rather, it was driven by a recognition that College Board is at a juncture where considerable new investment would be necessary to ensure the relevance and quality of the SpringBoard program in the years to come. While College Board is proud of the successes of SpringBoard over the past decade plus, in large part due to a strong internal SpringBoard leadership team and staff, this type of full-curriculum program is unique within College Board, and thus different in its investment needs than other College Board programs. The organization has decided to focus their investments on the infrastructure, functions, and capabilities shared by our other programs, rather than on continuing to invest in SpringBoard.

The table below shows the program elements that will remain by school year through the duration of your state’s adoption.

Frequently Asked Questions

1. Do we plan to notify teachers and schools directly? How will College Board communicate this decision?

College Board will post this decision on SpringBoard.CollegeBoard.org and within SpringBoard Digital on November 1, 2023. We encourage districts to communicate this decision as appropriate to your school staff.

2. Will we continue to provide program communications/newsletters?

We do plan to continue newsletters at least at the beginning and middle of the school year through the 2024-25 academic year.

3. Can we purchase additional professional learning?

College Board will deliver existing, contracted professional learning. New orders will be accepted for the 2024-2025 and 2025-2026 academic years; professional learning services must be delivered prior to May 31, 2026. No new professional learning services may be ordered in subsequent years.

4. What support for SpringBoard will be available going forward?

If you need support with SpringBoard Digital, please email sbtechsupport@collegeboard.org. All other support questions can be directed to springboard@collegeboard.org

5. Are the digital partners like Zinc and Turn It In Revision Assistant also winding down?

These partners will be supported within SpringBoard Digital through the academic year noted in the table above. After this date, these digital partners are still available for purchase through their direct websites: <https://www.turnitin.com/> and <https://www.zinclearninglabs.com/>. We encourage you to continue using these engaging and effective resources.

Email springboard@collegeboard.org with additional questions.
